In Memoriam

Everette W. Martin "Pete"
It's the time of year again that saddens our hearts so,
Because our memories of you linger and we miss you so.

Our thoughts of you are buried deep within our minds,
But yet our hearts weep and still carry you a sign.

That sign speaks for every family mouth, to let you know you're very dear
An even though you are absent on this joyous day, your chair still remains bare.

Maybe by sending you this little message, you will somehow see,
That never, never again will we have another, as dear as "Pete."

Former Governor Tuck to Head Virginia Public Service Council

McLean, Va. – William M. Tuck, former Virginia governor and U. S. Congressman, has accepted the Chairmanship of a state-wide organization opposed to legislation which would grant compulsory collective bargaining privileges to public sector unions in the Commonwealth.

"Governor Tuck has graciously accepted the Chairmanship of the Virginia Public Service Council. In his many years of public service he has seen the turmoil caused throughout the nation's 80,000 local governmental units and some of the 50 states when the public sector unions, by legislatic fiat, are handed control of local governments by special collective bargaining privileges," James L. Martin, Executive Vice President of the national Public Service Research Council said today.

In accepting the Virginia Public Service Council Chairmanship, Governor Tuck said "that the Constitution of our nation spells out the sovereign rights of the nation's states as well as the thousands of local governmental units. These governments are to be run by the people and their elected officials, not by the bosses of the several unions who wish to control the nation's governments, their employees, the elected officials and thereby the citizen-taxpayers of these communities."

Governor Tuck said, "For several years now the national unions from Washington have been pouring money and workers into Virginia, not only to elect a state legislature which would bend to their will, but which would abrogate the desires of the majority of Virginians and legislate away their Constitutional rights. I have joined in this battle for the survival of our great state against the erosion of the rights of the citizen-taxpayers by the union boss grab for power."

From 1924 through 1968, Governor Tuck served the Commonwealth of Virginia first as a member of the House of Delegates and State Senate, as Lieutenant Governor and Governor from 1946 through January of 1950. From 1953 to 1968 when he retired, Governor Tuck served Virginia in the U. S. House of Representatives.

"Governor Tuck has always had the best interest of the Commonwealth of Virginia foremost during his half-century of public service" Martin said. "Like many thinking Virginias, the Governor knows from experience over the last decade in other states and cities where the public sector unions have gained a foothold, that only disruption of civic life and often violence against the taxpayers and their property occurs.

"The Virginia Public Service Council is amalgamating the thousands of Virginia citizens who are already member-supporters of the national PSRC as well as many more thousands of Virginians who foresee the tremendous problems that will arise if the public sector unions are granted compulsory collective bargaining privileges.

"We plan, with the help of Governor Tuck and others, to conduct a State-wide educational campaign aimed not only at the citizens, but also at their elected representatives to the House of Delegates and the State Senate. This most dangerous legislation is being pushed with the financial and manpower aid of the national union bosses from Washington. Already several of the public sector unions, the militant American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. Their avowed aim, as it is in other states where they have organized, is to force the legislature to pass legislation which allows public employees to strike against local governments and their citizens."

Martin warned Virginians that they "can expect disruption and violence from the public sector unions, if they get their desired legislation." Recently, AFL-CIO President George Meany exhorted the nation's public employees to be 'militant.' He said they should enforce their demands by striking as do the private sector unions. Meany also said:

"You just quit working for the guy who is kicking you around,' "whether it's a mayor or a governor, or whomever."

"The words of the AFL-CIO boss review the disruption that can and would come to the State and local governments of the Commonwealth if the legislature passed the laws the unions demand. This is why Governor Tuck and thousands of other concerned Virginians are joining the Virginia PSC, to fight such legislation granting public union bosses bankruptcy powers over the citizen-taxpayers of our State." Martin said.
